Language Offerings: Classical languages are approved as satisfying the liberal learning language requirement for students in the Schools of Art, Media, and Music; Culture and Society; and Science.

GRE 101 and 102, though open to all students, count toward College Honors for students in the Honors Program.

COURSES

CLS 250/Introduction to Greek Mythology
(every semester)

1 course unit

An introduction to ancient Greek mythology through primary texts in English translation such as Homer's Iliad and Odyssey, Aeschylus' Agamemnon, Sophocles' Ajax, etc. We shall focus on the Trojan War cycle of myths and its greatest heroes in order to understand how the ancient Greeks explored important aspects of their society through literature that ostensibly presents mythological events and characters. Attention is also given to visual representations of myth in sculpture and on vases and to differentiating the ancient Greek concept of “myth” from our own.

GRE 101/Classical Greek I

1 course unit

(annually)

This course is the first part of a two-semester introduction to the elements of classical Greek, and aims at allowing students to read classical Greek texts as quickly as possible. The focus of the course is the vocabulary and grammar of ancient Greece, but linguistic and cultural history will also be treated.

GRE 102/Classical Greek II

1 course unit

(annually)

Prerequisite: GRE 101 or equivalent

A continuation of Classical Greek I, completing the study of the elements of the language. Students will read selections from the works of great authors of the classical period.

GRE 201/Intermediate Greek

1 course unit

(annually)

Prerequisite: GRE 102 or equivalent

Concentration on translation, appreciation, and interpretation of great works of the ancient Greek world.

GRE 370/Special Topics in Classical Greek

1 course unit

(occasionally)

replaces GREK 298 and GREK 398

Prerequisite: GRE 201 or equivalent

300-level translation, analysis, and appreciation of one or more authors, texts, and/or topics not studied in depth in a regular course. May be repeated for credit with permission of program coordinator.

GRE 391/Independent Study

variable course units

replaces GREK 499

An independent study project involving the ancient Greek language, designed and carried out in consultation with a faculty supervisor.

LAT 101/Introduction to Latin I

1 course unit

(annually)

This course is the first part of a two-semester introduction to the elements of classical Latin, and aims at allowing students to read classical Latin texts as quickly as possible. The focus of the course is the vocabulary, grammar, and syntax of classical Latin, but linguistic and cultural history will also be treated.

LAT 102/Introduction to Latin II

1 course unit

(annually)

Prerequisite: LAT 101 or equivalent

A continuation of Introduction to Latin I, completing the study of the elements of the language. Students will also read abbreviated selections from the works of great authors of the Roman period.

LAT 201/Intermediate Latin

1 course unit

(annually)

Prerequisite: LAT 102 or equivalent

Concentration on translation, appreciation, and interpretation of great authors of the Roman world.

LAT 350/Roman Philosophy and Science

1 course unit

(occasionally)

Prerequisite: LAT 201 or equivalent

An advanced level course in classical Latin. In this course students will draw on their knowledge of Latin grammar and syntax as they read important texts in Roman philosophy and science, and come to appreciate critically the contribution of these texts in their contemporary context as well in subsequent ages

LAT 370/Special Topics in Latin

1 course unit

(occasionally)

replaces LATN 298 and LATN 398

Prerequisite: LAT 201 or equivalent

300-level translation, analysis, and appreciation of one or more authors, texts, and/or topics not studied in depth in a regular course. May be repeated for credit with permission of program coordinator.

LAT 391/Independent Study

variable course units

replaces LATN 499

An independent study project involving the Latin language, designed and carried out in consultation with a faculty supervisor.
