The English liberal arts curriculum is designed to provide intensive study in literature, language, and writing. The department also offers a professional track in secondary education, and one in journalism and professional writing, as well as minors in English, journalism, professional writing, and creative writing. Any of these programs can be meaningfully combined with majors or minors in such fields as history, psychology, modern languages, philosophy, elementary or early childhood education, and education of the deaf and hard of hearing.

The English program offers a broad range of courses in literature, language, film, and writing, allowing students to design programs appropriate to their goals and interests. The English major is excellent preparation for careers in journalism, public relations, law, management, teaching, or any occupation that requires verbal skills. It is also one of the best preparations for graduate and professional schools, and many of our students go on to advanced study at universities across the country.

Program Entrance, Retention, and Exit Standards

Every major program at the College has set standards for allowing students to remain in that program, to transfer within the College from one program to another, and to graduate from a program. The following are the standards for English programs. Minimum grades are noted in parentheses.

For students with curriculum codes ENGA and ENGT:

- Retention in the program is based on the following performance standard in these “critical content courses”: LIT 200/Introduction to Poetry and LIT 201/Approaches to Literature (C).
- Transfer into the program from another program within the College is based upon the following performance standard in this “foundation course”: LIT 201/Approaches to Literature (C).
- Graduation requirements: all English Department and correlate courses (C-).

For students with curriculum code ENGB:

- Retention in the program is based on the following performance standard in this “critical content course”: JPW 208/Introduction to Journalism (C).
- Transfer into the program from another program within the College is based upon the following performance standard in this “foundation course”: JPW 208/Introduction to Journalism (C).
- Graduation requirements: all English Department and correlate courses (C-).

English Major Learning Goals

At the end of their program of study, ENGA majors should be able to:

1. Demonstrate an understanding of the power of words by reading critically, interpreting responsibly, writing and speaking with clarity and grace, reasoning intelligently, and arguing thoughtfully and persuasively for a range of audiences and purposes;

2. Exhibit the kind of intellectual independence and sustained, critical thought required for the production of high-quality literary, linguistic, textual and/or rhetorical scholarship, using the current resources available for conducting primary and secondary research in the discipline of English;
3. Discover, assert, and insert their own critical “voice” in ongoing dialogues, critiques, and debates—both oral and written, general and specific—that characterize the discipline of English, including debates over aesthetic value, literary historiography, and disciplinary politics;
4. Apply linguistic, literary, rhetorical, and cultural theory to texts and their contexts in order to elucidate complex issues and to suggest additional avenues of critical inquiry;
5. Demonstrate their understanding of major linguistic processes and subsystems, appreciating the importance of data collection in language study;
6. Bring their understanding of language to bear on their discussions of writing, whether literary or otherwise;
7. Recognize the impact of cultural environments upon language, respecting and understanding language diversity;
8. Demonstrate familiarity with a significant body of texts within—and on the margins of—a variety of literary traditions (e.g., British, American, continental European, Asian, African American, and Latin American); and
9. Demonstrate sensitivity to the concrete historicity of texts and to the development of literary traditions, cultural values, modes of thought, and uses of language over time.

The following program requirements apply to students entering the program in the fall of 2009. Currently enrolled students will follow the requirement from the year they matriculated into the program, which usually is the year in which they entered the college.

English Major: Liberal Arts (ENGA)

- Three foundational courses to be taken in the freshman or sophomore year:

LIT200/Introduction to Poetry	1 course unit
LIT 201/Approaches to Literature	1 course unit

English Major: Teaching (ENGT)

An overview of the entire secondary-level teacher preparation sequence for students can be found in the section of this bulletin for the Department of Education Administration and Secondary Education.

Students planning to teach secondary-level English should consult with advisors in both English and secondary education in planning their academic program. These plans should take into account requirements for: the major, liberal learning, professional courses, and state certification. To be retained in the program, a student must earn at least a 2.5 cumulative grade point average (CGPA) before enrolling in the junior year education sequence. The student must establish a minimum 2.75 CGPA, and must have completed all required courses in the major in order to be allowed to student teach.

Candidates for a teacher-education certificate must have a 2.75 or higher cumulative grade point average to successfully complete their teacher education program. They also must meet the state hygiene/physiology requirement, and pass the appropriate Praxis examination before the New Jersey State Department of Education will issue the appropriate certificate. Teacher-education candidates will receive a “certificate of eligibility with advanced standing” which requires a candidate to be provisionally certified for his or her first year of teaching. After one year of successful teaching, the candidate is eligible for a permanent certificate.

English majors whose first major is Elementary, Early Childhood, Deaf and Hard of Hearing Education, or Special Education must complete the requirements for the ENGT major.

LIT 476 (1 course unit) or
LIT 477 (2 course units)/Honors in English

Senior Honors Research Project, to be completed under the supervision of a faculty advisor. The departmental honors committee will approve project proposals and evaluate the completed work in conjunction with the faculty advisor. For departmental honors, a minimum grade of B is required.

Academic Advisement in English

Each student is responsible for following departmental advisement procedures. Students will be assigned to academic advisors by the departmental advisement coordinator. Advisors will publicize the names of students whom they are advising and the times when they are available for conferences, but the student is responsible for taking the initiative to arrange conferences with the advisor each semester during the registration period and whenever academic questions arise. The purposes of these conferences are to assure that: 1) the student is taking the appropriate courses to meet the College's academic requirements; 2) the student is pursuing those courses best suited to his or her career goals; and 3) the student will have a source of mature advice in handling whatever academic difficulties he or she may be encountering. Advisors will maintain files on each advisee, containing transcripts, test scores, and other relevant data. Because the members of the English department believe that proper advisement is vital to the academic well-being of majors, a student must be formally admitted into the English major before attempting the final six course units in the major.
