

Homecoming scenes and dedications, too

© 2006 T.A. Hahn

The new Alumni Grove was dedicated October 28. Located between the library and Eickhoff Hall, the grove features paving bricks identifying grateful and generous donors to the College.

Families from all over returned to cheer their athletes and join in the 2005 Homecoming. Here football mainstay Raime Roye of Pennsauken, who graduated in December 2005, poses with relatives and friends. At top, from left, are Raime's brother-in-law, Gary Wells; brother Kirk; Raime; and a friend, Sheilajah Burns. The boys are Raime's nephews, from the top: Ronyel, Jahron, and Kaymon Roye.

© Frank Peluso Photography

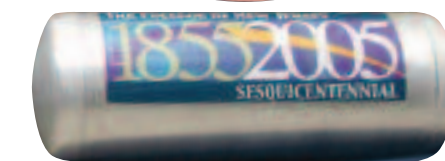

all photos this page: © Frank Peluso Photography

Cutting the ribbon to formally open the new library at the conclusion of the Sesquicentennial, is Board of Trustees member Susanne Svizeny. With her from left are Dean of the Library Taras Pavlovsky, TCNJ President R. Barbara Gitenstein, and Provost Stephen R. Briggs.

The traditional Miss Decker's Tea offered guests a sumptuous spread from tables in the drawing room of Allen Hall.

The engraved disk to the right is placed in the floor of the library's lower level, securing the metal time capsule containing numerous artifacts. It will be opened in 2055, our 200th year.

12th District Congressman Rush Holt gave the keynote address about the need to strengthen science education in America at the dedication ceremony for the new Science Complex on October 28.